Description

Add a page that provides an overview of the book and the author. This could include:

- Link to Wikipedia (http://www.mediawiki.org/wiki/API:Tutorial#Tutorial_for_MediaWiki.27s_RESTful_web_service_API)
- Perseus information
- Statistics (places mentioned, number of unique words, etc.)

- Target version deleted (1.0)

#3 - 03/31/2016 05:49 AM - Luke Murphey

- Target version set to 1.5

This can be easily done with the following:

1. https://pypi.python.org/pypi/wikipedia/
2. Requests
3. bs4

Here is an example:

import wikipedia
print wikipedia.summary("Antiquitates Judaicae")

Should consider having a hard-coded link to the page in Wikipedia. For example, the page for "Apophthegmata Laconica" is actually https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Moralia

The Wikipedia lookup can be done on much more than just the works. However, I need to link up the terms with specific wikipedia articles in some cases. Here are some solutions:

- Have a table with a type (work, author, editor) and an associated wiki
- Have a table that takes a search term and provides a wiki article (perhaps in a search index)
- Update the works table with an assocaited wiki article
